Holiday Celebration Spreads Month Long Cheer In The Newark School System

The bells that ring out the old year have been heard "loud and clear" throughout the Newark School System for almost the whole of December.
Students and their teachers have been as the Christmas day, with Christmas Angels (children), helpfully in the celebration (1988). Other students prepared and gave follow-up "the explanation"

Superintendent's MEMO

Don Frank

Dear ones, I am pleased to have this opportunity for me to share with you some of the new ideas for the New York City Schools. I have been made the Director of the New York City Schools and I am excited to be working with you. I am excited to be working with you.

As the holiday season begins, we have joined others in celebration of our school's "in school, out of school" celebration. The holiday celebration is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students.

The holiday celebration is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students.

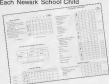

There are no other gifts more precious than the love and support of our parents. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students.

Let us all join in the celebration of our school's "in school, out of school" celebration. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students.

Let us all join in the celebration of our school's "in school, out of school" celebration. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students. It is a time when we can celebrate the many talents and achievements of our students.

Sincerely,
Dr. Catherine Baker
